In introducing Professor FRED'K, MANN PAGE to our patrons and the public as teacher of Modern Languages in this institution, we ask attention to the following testimonial from Dr. Schele de Vere, of the University of Virginia which we consider a sufficient guarantee of Prof.

Page's qualifications to fill this position: "Mr. Fred'k. Mann Page possesses such valusble gifts from nature, such thorough knowledge of English Letters, and such rare familiarity with several European languages and their literature, that I consider him eminently qualified to fill a chair in which these qualifications might be made available. I may add that his character and his principles tend to secure him the regard and good will of all who learn to know him.

"SOHELE DE VERE, "Professor of Modern Languages, &c." University of Virginia, June, 1878.

Prof. Page has acquired a knowledge of the Modern Languages, French, German, Spanish and Italian in their respective countries, and brings testimonials of the highest order from most of the Professors of the University. We beg further to state that Professor L. H. HAYDEN, a Musician of great reputation,

Of course, I could "grade my cream by the price," but my cream would less the good name that years of fair dealing have won for it. I ask that persons abroad ordering "Brengle's Cream" from third parties will assure themselves that the cream sont is certainly from my establishment. Delsware, O., Feb'y. 16, 1877. Mr. H. R. Stevens:

Dear Sir-I wish to give you this testimony, that you may know, and let others know, what Vegetine has done for me. About two years ago a small sore came on my leg; it soon became a large ulcer, so troublesome that I consulted the doctor, but I got no relief, growing worse from day to day. I suffered terribly; I could not rest day or night; I was so reduced my friends thought I would never recover; I consulted a doctor at Columbus. I followed his advice; it did no good. I can truly say I was discouraged. At this time I was looking over my newspaper: I saw your advertisement of Mr. H. R. Stevens: my newspaper; I saw your advertisement of Vegetine, the 'Great Blood Purifier' for cleansing the blood from all impurities, curing Humors, Ulcers &c. I said to my family, I will try some of the Vegetine. Before I had used the first bottle I began to feel better. I made up my mind I had got the right medicine at last. I could now sleep well at nights. I continued taking the Vegetine. I took thirteen bottles. My health is good. The ulcer is gone, and I am able to attend to business. I paid about four hundred dollars for medicine and doctors be a doctor of the standard of the standard

Dear Sir—I feel it my duty to say one word in regard to the great benefit I have received from the use of one of the greatest wonders of the world; it is your Vegetine. I have been one of the greatest sufferers for the last eight years that ever could be living. I do sincerely thank my God and your Vegetine for the relief I have got. The Rhevonatism has pained me to such an extent, that my feet broke out in sores. A Long Branch correspondent of the New

Marriage and Death Notices fifty cents. Obitu-vertisers.

York Herald says:-Miss Rebecca Crounce, a lady from Albany, who had been stopping at the Branch with some friends for a few days, visited a store or shop, commouly known as the "Florida Curiosity Shop," at an early hour on Monday last. She was accompanied by a little girl, about eleven years old, for the purpose of looking at some of the many curiosities usually kept in the store. She made some small purchases in the way of tropical shells and such things, after which she proceeded to the beach, took her usual bath and returned to the cottage at which she was stopping in time for dinner. In the meantime the little girl had been strolling along VEGETINE the shore gathering shells and showing those procured in the forencen to her friends. As table a constable arrived with a warrant for her arrest on a charge of having stolen $25 worth > taken to the room where justice is meted out to those brought before the police justice. Witnesses were heard on both sides, and the Judge decided that the lady should either be locked up in one of the cells under the court room or should give bail for her appearance at a further hearing on Tuesday afternoon. Several gentleman from Albany offerred to furnish money as a security for the bail, but it was refused. A resident freeholder then offered of gold mounted Florida beans. Notwithstanding the earnest protests of the lady she was bail, which was accepted. The accused was so much oversome by the charge against her that she had an attack of hysterics in the evening, remaining in a partially unconscious state through the night. At the appointed time she was again present at the VEGETINE court. After some wrangling between the counsel, in which they clinched and threatened to throw each other cut of the second story window, the case was again adjourned until this afternoon. Miss Crounce was again taken with hysten cal spasms yesterday afternoon, and lay in a precarious condition until the hour appointed for the trial arrived. She was then once more assisted into the court. After a further hearing she was declared guilty of the charge and committed to the "smoke house" to await action by the Grand Jury. A number of gentlemen from Albany and several freeholders offered to give bonds for her. Her causel objected to this. He made a motion for a writ of habeas corpus, and, by the earnest solicitations of friends present, she was allowed to return home on parole, under the charge of a constable. Strong sympathy is felt by those knowing the accused. They declared that her character is above reproach and consider the decision an outrage upon society, as the accused was rightly searched and nothing to sus tain the charge was found in her possession.

THE CHARM OF NEWPORT. -- Newport offers a great contrast to Saratoga. It is situated on the senside, and is as quiet, exclusive and dignified as its rival is noisy and essentially cosmopolitan. There are only two prominent hotels at Newport, for it is not considered good style here to live in a hotel. "Cottages," as the villas are called, abound, and can be rented from between $1,000 to $5,000 the season .-These "cottages" are delightful. They nestle in lovely gardens, full of exotics, amid hund reds of roses, and are overgrown with elematis and honeysuckle. Lawns as smooth as velvet stretch out in front of them, on which you will see the prettiest girls in "society" playing cro quet or lawn tennis. There is one long street, lined, as usual, in this country, with superb trees, which is the favorite promenade, especially in the afternoon, when there is the finest display of carriages and horses in America,---Society appears to great advantage at Newport. It is the creme de la creme of American upper tendom, and possesses much of the respectability of the English upper middle class, with out its stiffaces and formality. Here you meet with people of great wealth and culture, whose manners are perfect, and whose appearance is singularly elegant and aristocratic; for it is an acknowledged fact that the American climate refines the features and figure, and even Parisian women are beginning to yield the paim to the daughters of the New World for taste in dress. The society at Newport, a few "loud" exceptions apart, is delightful, and it is a place English travellers to America should visit in the season, if they wish to study the better class of the people to advantige. - London

World. PICTURE OF A WOMAN STANDING ON HER HEAD, -- Far and away, beyond all the attrac tions of the exhibition-to the Parisians, at least, who, as a body, regard the Great International Dry Goods Store, Picture Show, and Fancy Bazzar in the Champ de Mars far less in the light of an artistic and industrial display that as a machine for squeezing money directly and indirectly out of foreigners -is an oil painting in a shop in the Rue Vivience, representing a lady standing (with some slight assistance from her hands) on her head. The lady is life size; her reversed countenance is irradiated by an impudent leer; and her costume is strictly that of Hans Breitmann's mermaid, that is to say, she has "nodings on. All day long, and up to ten at night, this characteristic performance is surveyed by a crowd composed, not only of "Gugusse" and "Lalie," but of ladies and gentlemen. The manner in which the English and Americans dodge by the reprehensible work of art, and then dedge back again is curious to view.

The staple of the commentaries on the reversed lady amounts generally to Tiens, mais c'est drole. The intention of the artist, however, has been of anything but a droll nature, so I understand. He was desirous of demonstrating the great advantage of the study of gymnastics to the female sex, and in the picture the lady's devotion to athletics is denoted by a number of dumb bells, skipping ropes, and "Indian clubs" scattered about her boudoir.
